Step-by-step instructions for using this tool

1. Add a javascript include to your page.

Add this piece of code to the top of any page where you are placing the promo tool on your site.

<script type="text/javascript" src="http://img.video.ap.org/p/j/apovn.js "></script>

2. Select your promo tool category.

This tool is designed to span our most popular categories, which are listed at the bottom of tool. Setting the “cat” variable to “All” will instruct to tool to show the most recent content in each category until the user selected a category, at which time the tool will show content in that category only. You can also force the tool to start with any of our available categories by setting the “cat” variable to the category of content you want to include in the tool. For a full list of category choices, see below.

```
ap.addVariable("cat", "yourCATEGORY");
```

3. Set you OVN ID.

Set the pid variable to your f parameter OVN ID code.

```
ap.addVariable("pid", "yourIDhere");
```

After you've made all your changes, include the code on your web page.

Example

```
 <script type="text/javascript"> var ap = new SWFObject("http://img.video.ap.org/p/s/lg_hz_search.swf" ,
"lg_hz_search", "234", "200", "8");
  ap.addParam("quality", "best");
  ap.addParam("AllowScriptAccess", "always");
  ap.addVariable("cat", "All");
  ap.addVariable("pid", "ap");
  ap.addVariable("s_URL", document.URL);
  ap.write("flashcontent");
</script>

*If you want to include more than one OVN promo tool on the same page:

If more than one instance of the promo tool is to be included in a single page, a slight modification needs to be made to the code. Each instance must have a unique  and the final line of the include code must mirror it.

For example:

if  becomes , ap.write("flashcontent"); must become ap.write("flashcontent2");
